Seminars

4 hour Courses (x2)

Best Practice in Managing Serious Incidents in the workplace

This is a new seminar that has been formatted to allow both Brokers and clients an insight into what constitutes a Serious Incident as described under the Workplace Health and Safety Regulations 1998 and what responsibilities they have to notify Workplace Standards.

We also have three other presenters informing the attendees of what sort of counselling is available and what is best for certain situations, insights by an investigator looking for recoveries, common law exposure and factual statements and finally our own workers compensation Technical Adviser advising us of the technical considerations in serious injuries and how Vero manage this minefield of issues to gain a positive result for all stakeholders. This Seminar is aimed at all clients big and small as we all could have an incident or hold up situation where we need to notify Workplace Standards of issues and corrective actions taken to prevent a similar situation from arising.
